Allies, Reds OK Korean Talk Agenda

New Life Pumped Into Hope For Eventual Accord

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Allied and Communist diplomats today pumped new life into dwindling hopes for a Korean peace settlement with agreement on an agenda for preliminary talks to arrange a political conference.

Top-level negotiators reconvened after a week-long recess and approved an agenda drafted by staff advisers in six secret sessions.

The agreement provides for simultaneous discussion of a time and place for the peace conference. Communist insistence on deciding and of nations which will attend, the composition first had deadlocked the preliminary talks for three weeks.

Approval of the agenda will get the stalled preliminary talks under way but U. S. envoy Arthur Dean told newsmen: "This is just the key that opens the door. The real hard work is just commencing."

MEANWHILE non-Communist members of the Korean Repatriation Commission were increasingly pessimistic over the future of Red interviews with Chinese and Korean War prisoners who have refused to go home.

Explanations have been canceled nine straight days because of Communist demands to interview prisoners called up but not interviewed Nov. 5.

Armin Drenth, Swiss member of the commission, said Saturday the future of the explanation program doesn't "look very good."

The agenda for the preliminary political talks closely parallels a plan proposed first by envoy Dean Oct. 31. At that time Red negotiators called it "sleight of hand" and "absolutely unacceptable."

Dean said after today's meeting that he always has been optimistic about chances for a Korean peace conference "and I am even more optimistic now."

Dean and the Communist negotiators will meet again Monday to iron out working plans for subcommittee discussions.

The top U. N. negotiator said he probably would sit on one of the subcommittees himself.

The Communists have insisted from the beginning that they would discuss a time and place for the peace conference only after a decision on their demand that neutral nations, particularly Asian neutrals, be invited to attend.

Dean has insisted that time and place be decided first. He offered to exchange views on composition of the conference after that, but told the Reds he has no authority to decide the question.

The U. N. Assembly voted to invite belligerent nations to the peace conference, with Russia sitting on the Communist side if North Korea and Red China invite her.

Local Residents Warned Supply Of Blood Low

Supply of whole blood on the refrigerator shelves of the Columbus regional blood center has been dangerously low this week.

In response from a call of Berger hospital, it was necessary for the Columbus center to delay shipment of a needed rare type one day until the blood could be collected.

Forty-two pints of blood were used in Berger hospital during the month of October, and 11 pints of blood have been received in the local hospital so far this month. Only about 90 pints of blood were collected here in September, last visit of the Bloodmobile.

Pickaway Countians also have received blood in the Columbus hospitals during the last six weeks to increase the total pints of free blood given to residents of this county.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at First Methodist church from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. Monday.

Princess Dies

ECKENFÖRDE, Germany (AP)—Sweden's Queen Louise and hundreds of other mourners attended the last rites today for her aunt, Princess Irene of Prussia, who died Wednesday at the age of 87.

REP. HAROLD VELDE, seated at his desk in Washington, tells newsmen that the hearing of the House Un-American Activities Committee in the Harry Dexter White case has been postponed indefinitely. In front of him is the letter from former President Harry Truman declining to obey the subpoena served on him.

Senators Disagree On GOP's Role In Civil Rights Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Cooper (R-Ky.) said today the Republicans should try to pass civil rights legislation when Congress meets again, but Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said that would start "a battle royal."

Cooper said he believes the Republican record in Congress will be decisive in the 1954 elections for 35 Senate seats and all 435 House seats. The Kentucky senator may be opposed for re-election by Alben W. Barkley, Democrat and former vice president.

Cooper said he doesn't believe such issues as the farm problem, budget balancing and tax revisions can be solved by any "quick and magic methods." But he said he doesn't think the Republicans ought to dodge any problems they promised to try to solve.

The civil rights plank of the 1952

GOP platform pledged "legislation to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices."

"I think we should make an honest effort to pass some civil rights bills," he said. "It is better to make a fight on civil rights and not just say that no bill can pass because of a filibuster and give up on the issue."

ELLENDER said he feels the Republicans will be getting off on the wrong foot if they try to bring a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission bill before the Senate. In the past he has spoken for days against such measures.

"The people want action now and not headlines," Ellender declared. "The Republican party had better get busy and clear its decks for some constructive work on major problems instead of talking about civil rights and Communist activity of years ago."

Ellender has been critical of Atty. Gen. Brownell's charges that Truman promoted Harry Dexter White in government service in 1946 after the FBI, Brownell claims, named White as a Red spy.

Ellender said he thinks most people will regard the White controversy as water under the bridge and will be much more interested in what Congress does about farm prices, the budget and defense spending.

Cooper said he was inclined to agree that what occupies the public mind now may be forgotten a year from now when the congressional election is held.

Some Ohio Auto Rates Going Up

COLUMBUS (AP)—Insurance costs will increase for many Ohio motorists starting Monday.

The increases will result from a new classification schedule for private automobile insurance accepted by the state division of insurance, Walter A. Robinson, state superintendent of insurance, says.

Classifications with firms in the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters will get some cuts, but those insuring with members of the Ohio Bureau of Casualty Underwriters will pay more.

He said the new classification schedule will cause Ohio bureau rates to line up substantially with rates filed by the national bureau. The Ohio bureau will revise its rates Monday, Robinson said.

"So far I haven't tried to evaluate the testimony," the senator said. "More detailed hearings will be held around Dec. 1, either in Monmouth or New York."

Stevens said several of the 33 civilians suspended at Fort Monmouth have already been reinstated and all others will be given a fair hearing before a loyalty board composed of civilian and military officials.

He said it was pure coincidence that the suspension of the civilians at Fort Monmouth came during the time of the probe by the McCarthy committee. The secretary said six of the suspensions had been ordered before the subcommittee investigation got underway.

Western Cattlemen Pointing Finger At City Cousins For Many Of Ills

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—Western farmers who make cattle raising and feeding their full time occupation year in and year out are pointing accusing fingers at city cousins for many of the troubles of the livestock industry.

Their criticisms are being directed at what some of them call the "butchers and bakers and candlestick makers" who jumped into the cattle business when beef prices climbed up after the war in the hope of making a big profit with some of their extra cash.

These Johnny-Come-Lately venturers, say the dyed-in-the-wool cattlemen, helped bid prices of grazing land and cattle to sky-high levels and also contributed heavily to an overproduction of beef cattle.

Now that the cattle boom has broken and prices have dropped sharply, it is the regular livestockmen without oil wells and city cash registers, say the critics, who are paying heavily through loss of herds and financial backlogs built up in better days.

The participation of the so-called city "speculators" in the cattle business is getting more blame than the western drought for many difficulties in the cattle industry.

Certainly this is the gist of what Secretary of Agriculture Benson has heard so far on a flying 3,000 mile inspection tour of southern Great Plains and Western states to check on the drought situation and farmer views on the deflated cattle market.

Many cattlemen in areas designated by the government as federal disaster areas welcome federal aid designed to help tide them over to better days. But quite a number expressed open resentment at cases where this help in the form of low priced feed was going to the city guy who had never "had any business of getting into the game in the first place." Troubled as they are, few cattlemen in Texas, New Mexico or Arizona who talked with Benson and accompanying newsmen wanted the government to step in and support cattle prices.

They said they preferred to try to weather the storm because they feared price supports would bring on more problems than they would solve, including possible government controls over cattle production.

Benson himself has resisted demands of some farm groups and congressmen that he set up cattle supports.

Vote Sought On Arms Cut

U.N. Panel Nearing Western Plan Ballot

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Assembly's Political Committee pushed for a vote today on Western proposals for disarmament talks by the world's atomic powers as the eighth Assembly session ended its second month. Delegates still hoped to finish their business by the Dec. 8 adjournment target.

New blasts from Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky and Western replies prolonged the committee debate yesterday. More discussion was scheduled today in an effort to reach a ballot.

Approval of the Western resolution appeared certain. Like previous Assembly resolutions on the subject, it urges the 12-nation Disarmament Commission (the 11 Security Council members and Canada) to keep looking for ways of reaching international agreement on disarmament.

The innovation in this year's resolution is a recommendation for a subcommittee of the "powers principally involved" to seek a disarmament agreement in private negotiation.

AN INDIAN amendment originally called for the United States, Britain, Canada, France and the Soviet Union (the five leaders in atomic research) to hold these negotiations. Subsequent amendment (Continued on Page Two)

Cookie Binge Due Livestock At Pen

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The mules and cows and hogs at the Federal Reformatory near El Reno, Okla., never had it so good.

By order of U. S. Dist. Judge Stephen Chandler, they will inherit enough goodies to last them for weeks. It will be quite a cookie binge, if they don't mind a weevil or two.

Judge Chandler yesterday ordered seizure of 635 cases of wafers, 164 cases of coconut bars and 161 cases of coconut "puffe" from a Joplin, Mo., plant after federal food inspectors found evidences of weevils there.

The judge stipulated that the shipment go into livestock feed at the reformatory.

Army Reports No Evidence Of Espionage At Monmouth

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army does not agree with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that there is evidence its radar laboratory at Fort Monmouth, N. J., has been the recent scene of Communist spy activities.

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a news conference yesterday there were no suspected spies among the 33 workers suspended on loyalty charges at the Signal Corps center.

Stevens said so far as he could determine no secrets passed from the radar laboratory to Iron Curtain nations in recent years.

The secretary declared he did think espionage had occurred during World War II at the installation—at the time Julius Rosenberg, executed as an atomic spy last summer, visited it.

McCarthy said last month, as he was developing an investigation of Fort Monmouth security, that "it appears at this point to be a matter of current espionage."

This Guy Deserved To Win Top Prize

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Robert Reynolds came up with a fool-proof way to win a guessing contest—the dismy of a radio shop which had to be persuaded by police to give Reynolds the prize.

The problem: To guess the four-digit combination of a safe. Reynolds' solution: He submitted 10,000 entries, with every possible combination from 0-0-0-0 to 9-9-9-9.

Police Inspectors Lester King and Eric Gustavson persuaded the protesting store that Reynolds was entitled to the prize, a four-year old television set with a 12½-inch screen.

Ohio Hunting Season Called Off For Week

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's pheasant and rabbit hunting season scheduled to start Monday, has been delayed at least until Nov. 23 because of the field and forest fire hazard.

Officials of the state division of wildlife meet today to plan enforcement of the postponement they ordered yesterday.

"Obviously, it will have to be enforced," said Charles A. Dambach, chief of the wildlife division. He said hunting licenses are issued subject to the authority of the council to rescind or change regulations.

Postponement beyond Nov. 23 is likely unless there is rain or snow. The council will meet again next Friday to decide. Besides pheasants and rabbits, the season is postponed for raccoon, grouse, partridge and other game.

Duck season, which opened Oct. 19 and runs through Dec. 12, was not affected. Hunters must have waterfowl stamps on their licenses and must be hunting ducks to avoid arrest, Dambach said.

The council also eliminated Ashland and Medina counties from those in which deer hunting will be permitted Dec. 17-19.

O. A. Alderman, chief of the state forestry division, ordered all state parks and public lands closed.

The council said it acted because the state fire index was ranging from 11 to 19. Fire towers are manned when the index reaches five. The index is based on such factors as wind velocity, air moisture and dryness of grass, bushes and trees.

Solon Wants FBI Chief To Testify

WASHINGTON (AP)—The top Democrat on the House Un-American Activities Committee has demanded that J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, tell all he knows about the Harry Dexter White case.

"Everybody who had any contact with it ought to tell everything he or she knows," said Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania in calling for Hoover's appearance before the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Walter said that so far as he knows Atty. Gen. Brownell is the only person close to the case to call White a Communist spy. Brownell touched off the far-reaching uproar in a speech at Chicago Nov. 6, when he said former President Truman gave White a better government job in 1946 despite FBI reports that White was a Communist spy.

"He must have made that statement on the basis of information we've never had," Walter said. "We and the American people are entitled to have that information."

WALTER SAID the House Un-American Activities Committee, of which he is the ranking Democrat, should bow out of the White inquiry. But he said there should be a full airing, presumably by the Senate internal security subcommittee, with Hoover, Brownell, Truman and others invited to appear for testimony.

Walter said he had been reliably informed that Truman, Hoover, then Secretary of the Treasury Vinson and then Atty. Gen. Clark decided in 1946 to promote White "and then keep him under surveillance."

But Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee, quickly issued a statement challenging this.

C. W. Helvering And Wife Hurt In 2-Car Crash

Clarence W. Helvering, 57, of 470 E. Main St., councilman-elect of Circleville's first ward, and his wife, Mrs. Anna Helvering, 54, were injured late Friday in a two-car auto accident in Belmont County near Morristown.

State Highway patrolmen said the accident happened at about 7:45 p. m. Friday on Route 40 when an auto operated by John Hixson, 67, of Lore City, smashed into the left side of the Helvering auto.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Helvering were thrown from their car by the force of the impact. Both a toes were demolished in the crash.

Helvering suffered a severe laceration on the back of his head where he struck the pavement. He was unconscious until soon after he was admitted in Barnesville hospital. Mrs. Helvering was treated in the hospital for a lacerated left leg.

HOSPITAL officials in Barnesville said Helvering might be released Saturday. The Helverings were on their way home after having attended a horse sale in Harrisburg, Pa.

Hixson, meanwhile, has been accused of having failed to yield the right of way to Helvering's auto. He escaped injury in the crash.

Defense Setup Against Atom Attack Coming

President Declares Red Threats Still Revealing Dangers

OTTAWA (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today Canada and the United States "can and will" work out a defense against any surprise atomic attack while still maintaining their commitments in other parts of the world.

Addressing a joint session of the Canadian Parliament, Eisenhower said the Russians have adopted a truculent tone and United States-Canadian security plans "must now take into account Soviet ability to employ atomic attack on North America."

In his speech, prepared for delivery as the highlight of his good neighbor visit to Canada, the U. S. President declared:

"We shall achieve the defense of our continent without whittling our pledges to Western Europe or forgetting our friends in the Pacific."

"The bankruptcy of armament races and the suicide of nuclear war," he continued somberly, are the only alternatives to "an international will to cast out the bomb and gun as arbiters."

ASSERTING "the threat of Communist purpose still exists," Eisenhower described Russia's recent rejection of the Western Powers' bid to a foreign ministers' conference on Germany and Austria as "truculent, not to say arrogant in tone."

"Our security plans must now take into account Soviet ability to employ atomic attack on North America, as well as on countries, friendly to us, lying nearer to the U. S. S. R."

"Their atomic stockpile will, of course, increase in size, and means of delivery will improve as time goes on."

Eisenhower's historic address was telecast by the Canadian Broadcasting Co.—the first "live" television broadcast from the House of Commons chamber.

It also was scheduled on nationwide radio networks in the United States and Canada.

Before Eisenhower spoke, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada said in introducing him:

"We would like you to know that we are grateful for the leadership your nation is providing in the common effort of free men and women to make our world a safer and better place for future generations."

St. Laurent said U. S. example, as a member of the United Nations in "vigorous and immediate resistance to wanton aggression has revived the hopes of anxious people that, through collective action, international peace may be secured and maintained."

Commies 'Fail' To Foul Colleges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Communists have "completely failed" in attempts to infiltrate American colleges and universities, but educators have been "tragically deficient" in making that fact known, says the president of Miami (Ohio) University.

"If there is public misunderstanding and apprehension about higher education today, then the fault must be laid first of all at the door of the colleges and universities themselves," Dr. John D. Millett of Oxford, declared in his keynote address to some 200 educators attending a conference of the Western College Assn.

Ferguson Opposes Red China Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today he was confident the government would reject any application by a U. S. company to sell automobiles in Red China.

Ferguson was asked about the matter in view of statements in Detroit by a Chrysler company executive that the State and Commerce departments had been sounding out industry sentiment on possible reopening of limited trade with Red China.

The official, C. B. Thomas, president of Chrysler's export division, said a possible Chinese market was a ray in a generally not too favorable export outlook.

Here's Ill Wind That Blew Good

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP)—Emanuel Lucchesi was charged in district court yesterday with possessing apparatus for registering bets.

Police testified they saw Lucchesi tear up slips and scatter them to the winds when they approached to arrest him. They said they were unable to gather up the torn pieces.

Judge William H. Daly commented, "quite a circumstantial case but I'll have to find the defendant not guilty."

Public Warned On Street Law

Official wording of the law was placed before the public Saturday in the latest move to keep Circleville's streets free of litter and debris.

City Service Director Dewey Speakman has indicated he is preparing to "make an example" of some violator unless more respect is shown for a city ordinance designed to keep the streets clean. President Wes Edstrom of Circleville Chamber of Commerce said the chamber will cooperate with Speakman in any action considered necessary.

The city ordinance involved, called to the public's attention by both Speakman and Edstrom, reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to throw, empty or deposit, or cause to be thrown, emptied or deposited, any ashes, earth, rubbish or refuse matter from any cellar, yard, dwelling or other place, upon any of the streets, alleys or public grounds of the city.

"Any person or persons who shall be found guilty of any violations of the provisions of this chapter shall, upon conviction thereof, before the mayor, be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, at the discretion of the mayor."

Small Business Loan Setup Eyed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Officials of small business concerns called on Congress yesterday to set up a new loan system.

They appeared at a hearing conducted by U. S. Rep. William McCulloch, a Republican from Piqua, and a member of the House Select Committee on Small Business. Sherwood S. Parsons, president of the Parsons Eng. Corp. here, said the SBA should be changed in order to enable it to insure loans for small firms.

Legislation should be introduced to make the agency similar to the Federal Housing Authority, Parsons said, declaring the FHA had "carried" the construction industry.

Magazine Drive Brought To Halt

A flood of complaints has brought a magazine-selling campaign in Pickaway County to a halt.

Complaints have poured in during the last week to Pickaway County Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff of the rough manners and the misrepresentations allegedly employed by the subscription salesmen.

Circleville's Legion Auxiliary, which had endorsed the campaign for the purpose of receiving convalescent equipment for loan to local residents, withdrew its support Friday when complaints hit their peak.

Sheriff Radcliff said the complaints ranged from the salesmen asking for cash contributions to reports that they had used the name of a polio victim who allegedly had benefited by the drive.

Manager of the campaign of selling subscriptions told the Sheriff Friday night that he is removing his men from the county immediately.

Boston Bans Strip-Teasers In Theaters

BOSTON (AP)—Boston, a stronghold for burlesque for more than a half century, may never again see the tease of the stripper.

The Board of Censors Thursday ordered the city's two burlesque theaters, the 108-year-old Old Howard and the larger Casino, closed for the rest of the year because their shows were too dirty.

Mayor John B. Hynes, as spokesman for the board, said he didn't know whether the licenses would be renewed. And he hinted broadly that if burlesque is allowed to return, the stripper will have to do a fadeout.

Strip-teasers have been outlawed from Boston night clubs for more than two years.

The Old Howard and Casino theaters were ordered closed as a result of a municipal court conviction last week of three strip-teasers and the managers of both theaters on charges they presented and participated in immoral shows.

Fines were levied against strippers Rose La Rose (Rosina Dapelo, 25, of New York); Irma, The Body (Mary Goodneighbor, 26, of Paterson, N. J.); and Helen Russell (Eloise Adams, 26, of Huntington, W. Va.) and managers Max Michaels and Frank Engel.

Rose La Rose said: "It's a legitimate art, just like any other form of musical expression."

She pulled out a press clipping which termed her the "mistress of suspense, who reveals secrets of the plot bit by bit. She is the plot and unfolds it bump by bump."

Soil Essay Contest Winners Due Soon

Four top winners for Pickaway County are to be selected Monday in the annual essay contest supervised by the Soil Conservation District organization.

Entries were written at county high schools in October, and the two essays judged best by each school were submitted to George D. McDowell, county superintendent of schools. Pupils having the two best essays from each school are given an opportunity to visit the soil conservation research station and farm near Coshocton.

Countywide responsibility will be in the hands of a committee which, in addition to McDowell, includes: Winfred Bidwell, Donald Archer, Hillis Hall, Hugh Coffman and Larry Best. Part of their job will be to pick the county winners and enter the top county essay in the state Farm Bureau contest.

County prizes will be: first, $20; second, $15; third, $10; fourth, $5.

Solon Wants FBI To Testify

the subcommittee's request for permission from Canada to interrogate Gouzenko. The Canadian government turned down Jenner's previous bid in a letter to Dulles dated Nov. 5, saying Gouzenko had nothing to add to what the U. S. government already knows.

But Jenner said his subcommittee has a "1945 security document" which quotes Gouzenko, now living in Canada, as saying he was told at the Soviet Embassy that the Soviets had an agent in the U. S. State Department in May 1945. This information, Jenner said, does not appear in the report of the Canadian Royal Commission which investigated Gouzenko's revelations.

Jenner emphasized to newsmen that his subcommittee is not concentrating on White, but is looking into the case of Alger Hiss and others named in a 1945 FBI report on subversion in government.

Hiss, a State Department employee at the time is now serving a prison term. He was convicted of lying under oath in denying he passed secrets to a Red courier. White is now dead.

School Board Sued In Tiff Over Dancer

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A father who says he already spent $10,000 on the career of his 11-year-old ballerina daughter is suing to get her excused from school an afternoon a week for dancing lessons.

George Rapine, proud father of dancing Betty Anne, is suing the school board of nearby Conshohocken.

The board recently ruled that pretty, blue-eyed Betty Anne could no longer be absent from her fifth grade classes at public school to attend dancing lessons in New York Wednesday afternoons.

The youthful ballerina is no ordinary child, her father said. She has appeared on the New York stage and at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. He said the only time open for her on the New York dancing instructor's schedule is Wednesday afternoon.

This is her third year of dancing instruction. Her father, a rigging contractor, said Betty Anne attended the Miqun School, a private institution near his home the first year. Last year she transferred to the Conshohocken public school.

Since Rapine had already paid her dance tuition, Dr. Robert C. Landis, Montgomery County superintendent of schools, decided she could cut classes Friday afternoon, her dance schedule at that time.

School officials said this year is another matter. Betty Anne has used up the six half holidays permitted under the school code and the board solicitor, Stanley B. Cooper, said the board has no right to grant further absences.

New Efforts Urged To Boost Scouting

Another effort to expand Boy Scout activities in Pickaway County will be launched here Monday during a luncheon meeting at Mecca Restaurant.

Leaders in various spheres of community life have been asked to attend to talk over problems and procedure. Letters urging the new drive were signed by James I. Smith, who declared "scouting in Pickaway County is at a disgracefully low ebb" and appealed for public support.

"It is vital to the future of our community that our children have proper leadership and direction," Smith's letter said. "There is no better way to give them this boost than through Scouting."

Vishinsky charged yesterday that American preparations for a new war are preventing disarmament and building up tensions.

The Soviet U. N. delegate also joined his boss, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in demanding a Big Power conference, including Communist China to discuss measures aimed at lessening the strain. Molotov made his views known at an unprecedented news conference in Moscow while Vishinsky addressed the 60-nation Political Committee here.

Britain's Selwyn Lloyd, making the chief reply for the West, said Vishinsky had in effect rejected the Western proposals and commented: "This has been a bad day for disarmament."

Replica Idea Urged By Rotary Bulletin

Local residents aware of the district's historical wealth have been asked to support a plan for construction of a replica of Circleville's first octagonal courthouse, pictured in a widely circulated drawing of the city's appearance in 1836.

The proposal was outlined some time ago by M. E. Noggle and was placed before members of Circleville Rotary Club through the organization's bulletin, "Rotary Flashes." The Club's news sheet said:

"Wouldn't it be a fine thing if plans could be promoted to build a replica of the first octagonal courthouse, within the old fountain circle which is now being used to grow corn and pumpkins? Or, there is sufficient space available in the lobby at the courthouse, in which could be constructed a miniature of the original mounds and ceremonial structures upon which our city was built.

"Certainly the historical Indian background of our city should in some way be perpetuated."

GOP Chief Sees No Democrat Win

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—The American people "have no desire to tie one arm behind Ike's back by saddling him with a Democratic Congress next year," the national chairman of the Republican party said last night.

Leonard Hall told a dinner meeting of Kansas Republicans that in victory in the 1954 elections would require a hard fight. He told the $25 a plate meeting that on the domestic front the Republican administration was cutting "the huge socialistic super structure which we call the federal bureaucracy."

Letter To The Editor

The Circleville Herald encourages letters to the editor on pertinent subjects of local interest. However, unsigned letters will be disregarded. Non de plume will be used if requested.

EDITOR, THE HERALD:
Our sixteen-year-old son had to have two pints of blood this week. His type is "O positive." Many friends volunteered to give blood, but for convenience it was ordered from Columbus and we were advised to tell our friends to go to the Bloodmobile next Monday and donate in his name.

Since this is the common blood type, the supply was low and we had to wait one day longer. This was not an emergency, but we would like to urge those who so kindly offered blood to go and donate so that in case an emergency arises when someone also of this type needs it, it will be there.

A senior at Jackson Township School, his name is Donald Walker.

Sincerely,
Mabel Walker

EDITOR, THE HERALD:
I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the Red Cross blood program. Through the participation of the local chapter in this program, I was able to receive six pints of blood in July at the University hospital in Columbus.

This blood was essential to saving my life and was received at once by request of my doctor and without cost to me.

I have long been an active supporter of the blood program in our county. But I am anxious now to do everything in my power to support this program because I know first-hand of the benefits that it brought to me and is bringing to others.

Walnut Student Represents County

A Walnut Township schoolgirl is carrying Pickaway County's hopes to the seventh annual Ohio history, government and citizenship competition.

Only entry from the county school system is Mary Ann Noecker, Walnut Junior. Beginning Friday and continuing through Saturday, Ohio University in Athens has been host to the competitors—105 high school juniors and seniors who travel to the finals from all over the state.

The winners were selected from among 5,000 high school students who took the preliminary examinations in their respective schools during October. Competing in knowledge of history, government and citizenship, they stand to win scholarships to the university, cash awards and medallions.

They were to be guests Saturday at the Ohio U.-Bowling Green football game in Athens.

Prince Charlie Sees Birthday Party Delayed

LONDON (AP)—Prince Charles, chubby-faced heir to Britain's throne, had his fifth birthday today but without a party, without a birthday cake and without parents to wish him happy returns.

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, who so far have spent only one birthday with their son, were set to have a happy family time together this time but suddenly changed their plans.

They decided instead to spend a quiet weekend at their country estate at Sandringham, resting before the start Nov. 23 of their grueling six-month tour to Australia and New Zealand.

Charles and his flaxen-haired sister, Princess Anne, were sent to spend the weekend at the royal lodge in Windsor with "Grandma" (Queen Mother Elizabeth) instead of romping around Buckingham Palace with friends invited to a royal party.

There was a small tea party at the lodge today, but it wasn't the real thing. That will have to wait until Monday when the Queen and the Duke return home.

Then the birthday of the prince with the sunny smile will be celebrated in earnest with a few select children of the palace staff.

Charles had a few presents to open this morning but most of them have been held up until Monday. Tops among them undoubtedly will be a little boy's dream automobile from his parents.

It's a spanking red limousine with an electric motor and all the controls of a real auto.

Pre-Thanksgiving Rite Is Planned For First EUB

In preparation for entering into the spiritual purpose of Thanksgiving, First Evangelical United Brethren church will hold a pre-Thanksgiving worship service at 9:30 a. m. Sunday when the Rev. Carl L. Wilson delivers a message from the topic, "The Thankful Attitude of Mind."

Mrs. Verneal Thomas will play "God's House," "At Sunrise" and "Postlude" at the organ. Fidelis Chorus will sing with a girl's trio, consisting of Ruth Stivers, Fern Wise and Phyllis Hawkes, singing an anthem, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

The congregation will sing hymns entitled "For the Beauty of the Earth" and "Praise Him! Praise Him!"

From a scriptural directive in Psalm 100:4, "Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise, be thankful unto Him, and bless His name," the Rev. Mr. Wilson says:

"This one-hundredth Psalm seems to have been sung during the thank offering in the temple service. It is all ablaze with grateful adoration, and has, for this reason, been a great favorite with the people of God ever since it was written. It bids us 'make a joyful noise unto the Lord.'"

"It means 'a glad shout, such as loyal subjects give when their king appears among them.' In this Psalm the following of God is asked to accept the holy duty of his heart being full of thanksgiving. It is not mere outside worship which is asked, but such as wells up from the deepest fountains of a grateful and glad heart."

"The spirit of thanksgiving is born in the heart and gets expression through a glad and joyful testimony of service. This gladness is contagious in the sense that others join in the service of praise. There must be proper cultivation of the thankful attitude. All hindrances must be removed. We must take the right view of life."

"To be thankful one must fully appreciate that all he has comes from God. Too much of our present day appreciation is to self. We attribute any blessings as self secured and fail to recognize God's hand. St. Paul counsels the followers of Christ to be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. There are many reasons for cultivating right attitudes of thanksgiving."

"Our circumstances, regardless of what they might be, demand that we give thanks. For the sake of others in whom we come in contact we ought to be thankful because a thankful attitude blesses others. For the sake of one's self a thankful attitude will brighten all of life. 'Further, a thankful heart pleases God. The most serious indictment of our day is that people do not thank God. The need of the hour is for people to take a careful and prayerful inventory of their relationship with the Divine. If a man is not thankful to God, he is of all people miserable.'"

"This thankfulness cannot be hid it must show out in Christian service to God, the Church and one's fellowman. Oh, that people would make live the scripture, 'It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord.'"

Church school classes will study a Bible lesson entitled "Good Stewards of God's Gifts."

'Church We Love' Is Worship Topic For Presbyterians

"The Church We Love" is the second in a series of four sermons on the general subject of "Christ And Christians" which the Rev. Donald Mitchell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, is preaching during the weeks preceding Advent, the season leading up to Christmas.

These sermons are designed to give persons a definite opportunity to experience the same close relationship to the living Christ, enjoyment by those first disciples, many of whom had seen Him and heard His voice.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell says: "We want to see that there can be no divorce between Christ and His people. The Church is 'His holy bride' whom He came from heaven to seek. With His own blood He bought us; and for our life, He died, arose and ascended again into heaven, at the right hand of God, the Father. 'All Christians, therefore, have free and open access to the risen Christ, the Only Head of the Church (Col. 1:18 and 2:18), and nothing shall separate us from Him, nor from each other. We are 'one mind in Christ Jesus,' and this, with all our differences, is the church we love.'"

The Choir will sing "The Altar of Prayer" and will lead the congregation in the singing of the hymns: "The Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ Her Lord," "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," and "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord." Mrs. Clark Will directs the music; Mrs. Theodore L. Huston presides at the console of the organ.

At 9:30 a. m., an hour of Bible study precedes the worship, classes being provided for each age group including a men's class under direction of Milton Patterson.

Nursery service also is provided during Sunday school for the children of those who are teaching and during the worship service. The men of Geneva Fellowship Couples' Club have installed new stair treads on the steps leading to the upstairs nursery.

In the afternoon, senior members of Westminster Fellowship will attend the Youth Presbytery "Fall Rally" in First Presbyterian church, Lancaster, at 3 p. m.

The women of the church will assist in the Red Cross canteen for the Bloodmobile in First Methodist church, at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Methodist Youth Choir To Make 1st Appearance

The 40-member youth choir of First Methodist church will make its first Fall appearance Sunday at the 10:30 a. m. worship service. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Vaden Couch, will present a youth anthem "Saviour, Hear Us, We Pray."

Senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing an anthem "Gloria." Mrs. Ervin Leist has chosen "Meditation," "The Pilgrim Song of Hope" and "Prayer From Der Freischütz" for her organ selections.

"The Importance of Christian Concern" will be the theme of the sermon which the Rev. Robert B. Weaver will deliver at the morning worship hour. The sermon development will follow the thought that every man is his brother's keeper to a certain degree.

The Rev. Mr. Weaver says: "No man who follows the Christian credo can go his own selfish way without a sense of concern for his brothers who walk with him. All the ills of mankind are seen by the Christian and he is not able to close his eyes to the needs about him."

"High in priority for the Christian is his concern for the children and youth of the community. This attitude differs from the concern of other religions. For the Christian, there is no choice but to have concern."

"It goes without saying that the individual Christian is able to judge his own strength of religious life by the nature of his own concern for others."

The Methodist congregation will receive an offering Sunday morning for the Methodist Children's Home in Worthington in conjunction with the booth festivals.

Intern Kearns Due To Direct Lutheran Rite

Worship services in Trinity Lutheran church will begin with Sunday school at 9 a. m. Sunday, followed by the regular worship service at 10:15 a. m.

The service this week will be conducted by Intern Donald Kearns, who will speak on the theme, "Attitudes Toward Prayer." Text for the meditation will be Luke 18:9-14.

Mr. Kearns says Christians should experience a need for frequent communion with God in prayer. He looks back to the need which Christ and the early Christians felt for prayer, and points out that man's need and God's willingness are still the same.

He also says humility and sincerity are two marks of Christian prayer. By humility, Mr. Kearns says, he does not mean an inferiority complex but rather an honest self-evaluation and a willingness to serve. One who is sincere in his prayer must be willing to work to make that prayer become a reality for God often answers prayer through the work of his servants.

At 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, the Adult Bible Study Group will meet in the parish house to consider lesson 10 in its study of New Testament personalities. This week's lesson deals with "Pontius Pilate." Newcomers are welcome.

Rev. C. F. Lutz To Give Sermon In Calvary EUB

The Rev. Clayton F. Lutz, pastor of Fifth Avenue Evangelical United Brethren church in Columbus, is to be guest speaker Sunday in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church at the 9 a. m. worship hour.

The service of worship will be directed by the Rev. James Recob and Sunday School Superintendent Dale DeLong.

In the Bible study hour following worship, selected sections of the Bible which deal particularly with Christian stewardship will be studied by the adult department.

The Sunday school section of the children's department program begins at 9 a. m. This study period is followed at 10 a. m. by a children's worship service under the direction of Mrs. Dwight Wilson, children's director.

The varied program at Calvary church is designed to supply study and worship opportunities to persons of all ages.

Work Of Church Theme Due For Christ Church

"The New Testament Church Identified By Its Work" will be the sermon theme of the church of Christ, meeting at 159 E. Main St.

In giving an outline of this lesson Evangelist Charles Cochran says: "The church in New Testament times was a place of work. In order for the church today to be as God would have it it must be a working church. The early disciples realized that there was much to be done and little time in which to do it. They continued diligently at their task in the face of opposition and persecution so that the apostle Paul was able to say about thirty years later that the gospel had been 'preached to every creature which is under heaven' (Col. 1:23). This couldn't have been said if the Christians hadn't had a 'mind to work.'"

"The work of the church must proceed according to the divine pattern revealed in the New Testament, Paul said, 'And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully' (2 Tim. 2:5). It is not enough to do the work of the church, it must also be done in the prescribed manner."

"There are three things the church as such is authorized to do: (1) The edifying of the body of Christ; (2) Helping the poor; and (3) Preaching the gospel."

"It is supremely important that new born babes in Christ be fed the 'sincere milk of the word' that they may grow thereby, that they be strengthened and fortified to be able to withstand temptations, and to be prepared to teach others. It is likewise important that the poor of this world be helped, and Christians are to work with their hands that they may have to give to him that needeth (Eph. 4:28)."

"But the chief work of the church is the preaching of the gospel in order to save the lost. Multiplied thousands of souls will be lost if the gospel is not preached."

COUNTING THE ANGELS

IT WAS ONLY A LITTLE three-in-a-hand press association story, easily overlooked, about a 1953 headcount, just concluded, of the residents of Los Angeles, but as illustrative of population trends its significance was great. The City of the Angels paid to have the count made by the United States Bureau of Census not out of vainglory, but to get a larger share of state tax funds. The total was 2,071 million, or fewer than 400 short of that of Philadelphia, third in rank by the 1950 census.

What the count did show is that Los Angeles, whose increase of 466,000 between 1940 and 1950 was the greatest in the nation, is continuing to grow just as rapidly now. Its gain of roughly 101,000 in less than three years shows the same degree of acceleration. What is happening in Los Angeles is mainly attributed to one thing, a favorable all-year climate.

For a generation or more retired persons in comfortable circumstances have elected to pass their closing years there; was workers have stayed on, and their letters back home have brought others. Los Angeles has no doubt that it will rank a high third, behind New York and Chicago, in 1960.

LESS CENSORSHIP

THE TRUMAN CENSORSHIP order of two years ago has been rescinded by President Eisenhower. A free flow of Washington news should result. No one has publicly mourned the death of a measure that handed agencies and departments the right to withhold from the public news about their activities and that, in the words of Attorney General Brownell, enabled federal officials to cover up dereliction of duty and other mistakes.

Under the Truman regulation, 28 agencies which had nothing to do with the national security—including such boards as the American Battle Monuments Commission, the Veterans Administration, the Committee on Purchases of Blind-Made Products—had been permitted to mark their business "classified" and thus to keep any knowledge of it from reaching the people.

There are a few departments and agencies whose works and actions may occasionally be regarded as "secret." Their status is not affected by the new order, the purpose of which is to attain "a proper balance between the need to protect information important to the defense of the United States and the need for citizens to know what their government is doing."

Time marches on. Look what only 20 years has done to Shirley Temple and the Dionne quintuplets.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Los Angeles, Nov. 13—A debate is continuous among military men concerning the effect of new weapons and new means of war upon the organization and size of military establishments. Some of it comes into the open, often in confusing contradictions.

Without expressing an opinion in a field in which I am no wiser than the next man, let me summarize the situation:

1. The new weapons are destructive beyond anything ever known before. Atom and hydrogen (thermo-nuclear) bombs and devices cannot be limited to use against soldiers; if employed, combatants and non-combatants, men, women, children and domestic animals are damaged or killed. Soldiers are not to be taken prisoners, but an area is to be devastated.

2. The question then arises as to the purpose of infantry and its size. If the principal weapons, the bombs, are deliverable principally by air, what purpose is served by huge armies on foot, ranging into millions of men? Why is a conscript army needed in the face of the bombs and guided missiles? Of what value is universal military service, involving marching, drilling and boot camp training, if wars are to be fought by scientists, electricians, electronists, and fliers?

The answers are many and on both sides of the question. The infantryman says that no matter what weapons are used, an area has to be occupied if a war is to be won. The occupying force is the infantry; therefore a conscript army is needed. The opposition answers that that was true before the first bomb was hurled at Hiroshima, that no longer can an occupying force take over an atom-bomb devastated area because immediately there will be nothing to take over.

Eventually, there may be much to reconstruct, a task for specialists, not for conscripts.

3. Such conquerors as Alexander, Caesar and Genghis Khan needed to mobilize, provision and move veritable hordes of human beings on land or water, requiring a constant protection of the lines of supply and communication.

The new weapons are mostly deliverable by air. The lines of communication are radio and radar. The supply comes from enormous factories, most of which must be underground.

The question then arises, what size infantry will be required to guard these supplies and the bases where they are produced? The extremists on one side insist that the numbers will be negligible; the extremists on the other side say that until there is better experience, nothing should be risked by the reduction of infantry.

4. The weapon of infiltration has been developed only by Soviet Russia. The United States does not know how to use this weapon. In a word, infiltration is a method by which war is made permanent.

Infiltration is a process for the penetration of a government and the institutions of its people by the agents of an enemy without utilizing the orthodox means of war.

Use Caution in Administering Aspirin to Young Children

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ASPIRIN seems such a harmless cure-all to the adult that caution is sometimes forgotten in its indiscriminate use for children. It is not a panacea for all their ills, and at times, with improper use, it is a peril to their health.

Aspirin poisoning may be due to a venturesome child gaining access to the aspirin bottle and swallowing too many pills, but a number of cases of aspirin poisoning must be laid to lack of knowledge on the part of the parents as to its proper use for children.

Effect Unpredictable

There is a certain amount of risk taken when administering aspirin to children, because its action is somewhat unpredictable. When too much aspirin is taken the first evidence of overdosage may consist of headache, dizziness, ringing in the ears, difficulty in hearing and dimness in vision. There may also be some nausea and vomiting, along with diarrhea. Depending upon the make-up of the child, there may be different reactions to the drug.

Certain children may be allergic to the aspirin, adding another danger factor. In certain diseases, this drug can cause a severe drop in temperature, which may cause a shock-like condition. In the case of typhoid fever, aspirin can cause a drop as great as nine degrees in an hour, which of course could prove to be quite dangerous.

Carelessly Administered

Many mothers are accustomed to taking two or three five grain aspirin tablets for trivial complaints or even to "invigorate" themselves. The mother might then conclude that the simple five grain aspirin is a small enough dosage for an infant. However, parents should learn that aspirin, when used for children, must be used with great caution. The dose must be related to the child's weight and, of course, used when the physician prescribes it. It is only by this knowledge that the number of cases of aspirin poisoning will be lessened.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. L. R. A.: My husband has RH positive blood while mine is RH negative. We have had two normal children, but are afraid to have another because of this RH difficulty. What would you advise?

Answer: Many couples have had as many as ten to twelve normal children even though there was an RH incompatibility between husband and wife. I think it would be advisable for you to consult with your physician as to whether or not to defer having children since you have had no difficulty with your previous pregnancies.

Red Heads Don't Cry

by ROY L. FOLEY

CHAPTER THIRTY FOUR

MRS. EUSTIS told Linda she would get the gown she had spoken of and would Linda step into one of the dressing rooms please?

Linda did as she was invited and she had hardly parted the curtains when she saw Mrs. Merriweather. It was large, ornate. The woman must have carelessly left it on a chair when she left the dressing room. The bag was open.

Linda looked toward the front of the shop and toward the rear. No one was looking.

Linda, with a cat-like movement, added one more crime to her list. A diamond brooch was transferred from Mrs. Merriweather's purse to the pocket of her jacket. It must have been worth a couple of thousand dollars. Any fool would know that.

Linda had hardly slipped out of the dressing room and into another when she heard Mrs. Merriweather returning.

She heard the woman scream. She heard her scream that she had been robbed. She heard Mrs. Merriweather say that if somebody didn't do something she was going to faint.

Linda knew who was in a tight place now.

The fool woman was screaming so loudly that she would have had the police here in a minute.

Linda Van Vliet, who was in the habit of calculating every leap, for once leaped without calculating. She would have to think fast. She stepped out of the dressing room, inquired what could the trouble be.

Mrs. Merriweather was clawing through her handbag. Standing around her were Mrs. Eustis, Nancy, Moira and several employees of the shop. Mrs. Eustis and Nancy were saying they were sure Mrs. Merriweather must be mistaken. They asked if she was sure the brooch had been in her purse.

She screamed at them. "Sure? I'm positive. The thief is in this shop!"

Linda drew close to Moira. She slipped the brooch into the pocket of the jacket Moira was modeling.

A moment later when Moira dropped to her knees, saying that possibly the brooch Moira had fallen out of Mrs. Merriweather's purse and rolled under something, it fell from her pocket.

"Moira!"

There was agony in Nancy's scream.

Mrs. Merriweather clutched Moira's arm.

"You thief!"

"I'm not a thief. I don't know anything about your old brooch."

Then followed such a hair-pulling battle between the enraged Moira and the huge Mrs. Merriweather that someone ran into the street screaming for the police.

The arrests made good headlines. Mrs. Merriweather had wealth and prominence. Moira Kelly was identified as a model, the sister of Nancy Kelly, described as proprietor of the shop.

In police court Mrs. Merriweather's attorney advised her not to bring any charges against Moira. He knew his client was erratic and sensational. He knew that she was forever losing valuables and raising false alarms. In fact he regarded his client as just a little barmy.

Nevertheless Moira was found guilty of disorderly conduct. She had made something of a wreck of Mrs. Merriweather's face and coiffure.

The newspaper stories of the hair-pulling match between Mrs. Daisy Merriweather and Moira Kelly in the shop of Nancy Kelly, Inc., were read the next morning by many people in many surroundings.

Belle Sykes, in a rooming house in a down-at-the-heel neighborhood across town, read them over her coffee made on a gas plate. The house long ago had known the life of an aristocratic old family.

Phil Stanley, on the Gold Coast, read them over his coffee at a table with fine linens and silver.

Linda Van Vliet read them in bed.

Phil thought it all a big joke.

Belle Sykes didn't see anything to laugh at. Not after all those months searching for Sam and she had come to the end of the trail like this.

Belle read and re-read the stories. Moira Sykes, the model, was described as the wife of Sam Sykes, salesman.

So Sam was a salesman now. Belle was amused at that. Well, that was as good as anything. Sam had been a lot of things in his day. He was going to be something else now, only he didn't know it yet.

Sam was going to be a jailbird. Sam couldn't treat her as he had, and get away with it. Belle didn't like police stations and district attorneys' offices, not as a rule. She didn't care now. She didn't care about anything. She had been broke and half starved so long that she'd welcome a nice, clean bed in a jail herself. A nice, clean bed anywhere, and some passable food. Belle had traveled a long road since she was a girl in Chillicothe, Ohio.

There was just one more thing in life that she wanted to accomplish. She'd show him—

Belle was in a bad state of mind, but not in such a bad state that, womanlike, she didn't stop before a mirror in the hall for just one more look at herself.

"A model, eh, well what's a model got that I haven't got?"

A slovenly landlady waddled down the walnut bannistered staircase that once had known the tread of much grander ladies.

"What's that you're saying?"

"I was just inquiring—where's the district attorney's office?"

The next day when Linda idly

paged through her newspaper

thinking that the day's news had little that had much interest for her, she indolently turned a page and came across a story that interested her very much.

It interested her so very much that she forgot her lighted cigarette until it had burned a dark groove on the edge of her night stand.

It said that one Sam Sykes was being held on a charge of bigamy brought by Belle Lowder Sykes, who claimed he married one Moira Kelly Sykes, model, without the formality of a divorce.

It said that Moira Kelly Sykes was only recently fined for disorderly conduct in connection with a hair-pulling match in the shop of her sister, Nancy Kelly.

It said that the bureau of identification files showed that Sam had a bad record in other cities and that he had been a fugitive from justice.

Right then Linda decided that it might be well for her to watch the outcome of Sam's arrest from a distance of at least eighty-five miles. Chicago would be safer for her.

As she hastily packed her clothes and tore up cards, letters, bills, anything that might make interesting reading for the police, she should be cornered into spilling the beans.

If Sam was going to take a rap for bigamy there was no telling what else the cops would dig up on him, on her and Spike and the rest of the gang.

She knew Sam. He could be browbeaten into squealing anything. He might babble about the papers he stole from Nancy Kelly.

As Linda flashed about the apartment, emptying drawers and stuffing things into bags and suitcases, she was anything but a cool picture of sophistication.

She was doing another act now.

Sam Sykes... it was Sam's blunders that in twenty-four hours had caused a smashup of a swell racket in Miami...

Spike Adams was wise... funny about Spike... he certainly had used the tongue lash on Sam... funny about Spike... it might have been a good shake-down of old J. G. Stanley... so that's how J. G. got rich... Phil Stanley... Nancy Kelly... redhead... funny about Spike disappearing the way he did...

Thoughts, all kinds of thoughts, went hurtling through Linda's brain. As scattered as were the heaps of finery that she hurried out of closets and drawers.

Linda had no desire to meet Belle. Belle in the old days had been one of those dumbbells who had a pretty enough face but was given to sullen moods. She had upset too many apparels in the lives of the old gang. She was probably in one of those dumb, rampaging moods again.

No, it would be much better to be out of town when Belle was around.

Linda took the six o'clock train for Chicago.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

Editor's Note: Every Saturday this veteran Washington columnist devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent directly to Ray Tucker, 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON — "The Democrats are jeering and jibing at President Eisenhower because he hasn't kept his promises," writes Mrs. L. M. of Dallas, Tex., "and this charge may have hurt the Republicans in the recent elections. What promises did he make, and why hasn't he kept them?"

Answer: President Eisenhower made numerous grandiose pledges in the 1952 campaign, as all candidates do, although his distinguished opponent, Mr. Stevenson, took the opposite tack. Stevenson's speeches were grimly realistic.

He gave the impression that all our difficulties, foreign and domestic, would vanish, if he were elected. That is the normal way of normal American office seekers.

SUCCESSFUL — But it seems only fair to hold Eisenhower responsible solely for the specific and sober hopes which he aroused in his message to Congress on the State of the Union, in which he outlined his domestic program.

He devoted his inaugural address chiefly to a discussion of foreign affairs, and on that front he has been fairly consistent and successful. There is no doubt that we are gaining, while Russia is slipping at home and abroad.

NOT ACHIEVED—In his Union message, Ike declared himself in favor of: (1) budget balancing before tax cuts as a means toward lower prices and an "honest dollar"; (2) extension of Social Security benefits to millions now uncovered (3) "corrective revision" of the Taft-Hartley Act, (4) "economic stability and full parity" for farmers (5) an end to segregation "in the District of Columbia, including the federal government."

Not a single one of these objectives had been achieved when the 1953 session of Congress quit Washington on Aug. 3, after a seven months' occupation of Capitol Hill.

PROBLEMS—Ike's hope that labor and management could get together quickly on Taft-Hartley revision was blasted with the Durkin resignation. The President found that this problem is not susceptible to an easy solution.

Eisenhower and Benson thought they could take their time in preparing and introducing a new farm program, since existing legislation lasts through next year. The price decline on farm goods had been checked slightly, for they fell 11 per cent before inauguration, and only about 5 per cent since Jan. 20. But the drought sharpened the farmers' impatience, as did Secretary Benson's intimations that he wanted more flexible price supports than the current maximum of 90 per cent.

At a recent press conference Ike conceded frankly that he had been slow to keep these pledges. He intimated that the "mess" he agreed to clean up was messier than he had anticipated when he was on the outside looking into White House windows. But he promised—again—that he would implement these pledges at the January-July session of Congress

15 CHS Band Seniors Honored In Special Halftime Program

Fifteen seniors of the Circleville High School marching band were honored Friday night before approximately 1,600 gridiron fans in halftime ceremonies at the Circleville-Washington football game.

Circleville's marching band began its program with a fanfare from the east goal line in a company front formation, marching downfield in a line the width of the field.

At midfield, the band filed into regular formation and then broke into a huge "W" for the visiting Washington C. H. fans.

Next formation was an outline of a chapel in looking ahead to Thanksgiving, with bandmen playing "Come Ye Thankful People."

THE BAND moved into its feature formation next, the outline of a huge hourglass with the 15 seniors to be honored taking places in the upper half of the hour glass. While the band played "Auld Lang Syne," each senior was identified as he passed through to the lower end of the glass.

Seniors honored during the show were Drum Major Phyllis Dresbach, Carroll Leist, Donna Kerns, Martha Pile, Phyllis Clifton, Marilyn Richards, Robert Jones, James Phillips, Patsy Huston, Majorette Barbara Schumm, Fred Gordon, Ronnie Dowden, Carl Lindsey, Shirley Mason and Janet Smalley.

Finally, the CHS bandmen presented a large "C" for the home fans as they played the alma mater, "The Red and Black," ending their halftime show with a series of maneuvers off the field.

Washington C. H. marching band added to the festivities during the halftime show, presenting a program on "Love," beginning at the cradle and following each stage to marriage.

Before entering their theme, the visiting bandmen formed a large "C" for Tiger fans, then went into the outline of a cradle.

Features of the show were an outline of a face with two huge eyes while playing "Ma, He's Making Eyes At Me," an outline of a huge wedding bell, the outline of a small cottage as the band played "My Blue Heaven," and the finale, clotheslines of diapers extending from both sides of the "house."

Following the diaper scene with an outline of a dollar sign, the Washington bandmen formed a large "W" for their own fans and concluded by playing the Washington alma mater.

Williamsport Rolls Up 82-53 Victory Over Darby '5'

Williamsport's Deer cagers opened their assault on county league honors Friday night by putting on the steam and rolling up a lopsided 82-53 victory over invading Darby Trojan courtmen.

The Deers, winners of the central district "B" tourney title last season, posted their second win of this season Friday, but their first win in league play. They bested Atlanta Tuesday night in a non-league battle.

Williamsport gave the Trojan an insight to its intentions in Friday's test by collecting a 23-15 advantage in the first period and racking up a 39-22 lead at the halfway post. Pirate Cagers Post 59-45 Win Over Tiger Team

Pickaway's Pirates staged a minor upset Friday night by invading at Walnut and handing the highly-rated Tiger team a 59-45 setback.

Walnut had gained prestige last week by defeating New Holland. Pickaway had suffered a defeat to Stoutsville.

Walnut regained some of its composure during the third canto, whittling the Pirate margin to 43-26, but even by outscoring the invaders 19-16 in the final frame were unable to overcome the first half slump as the Pirates took the win by 59-45.

PICKAWAY'S Dave Rhoads collected 17 points to rank as leading scorer in the fracas. Norm McPherson paced the losing Tiger team with a dozen points.

Gavilan Seeks More Bouts As Welter

CHICAGO (AP)—Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan, who punched Johnny Bratton like he was a rag doll last night, today was ready to do more 147-pound business before shooting at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown.

Gavilan won a unanimous 15-round title decision from Bratton.

It was expected that, win or lose against No. 1 challenger Bratton in the Chicago Stadium, the Cuban would abandon the welter class and try to emulate Sugar Ray Robinson in graduating from 147-pound to 160-pound boxing king.

But the Gavilan who threw countless searing punches at a befuddled and helpless Bratton was said to like meeting Carmen Basilio or Gil Turner again in a couple of welterweight efforts before taking on Olson. This was a change of heart which may be traced to the International Boxing Club off the Kid's flaming go last night.

It had been freely predicted Gavilan would be thrown against Olson next February at San Francisco for the middleweight title. But Gavilan's wife is having a baby in February and the Keed would just as soon wait until March or April to meet Bobo.

Older Club members who received special recognition this year were Bob List of Williamsport Route 1 and Barbara Stoer of Orient Route 1, who were selected by the County 4-H Advisory Committee as the two Junior Leaders most deserving of attending State Junior Leadership Camp.

George Haughn of Ashville Route 2 was selected by the same committee to attend State Conservation Camp at Camp Ohio in Licking County.

ANOTHER HONOR which five Pickaway County 4-H'ers received this year was attending Ohio Club Congress on the Ohio State University campus.

Those selected to attend were Nancy Cromley of Ashville Route 1, Nancy Neff of Williamsport Route 1, Rosemary Wright of Ashville Route 1, Ramon Maxson of Laurelville Route 1 and Bud Enoch of Circleville Route 1.

Miriam Bach of Circleville Route 2, received one of the highest honors a 4-H Club member can receive, that of receiving an all-expense-paid trip to National Club Congress in Chicago.

At this week long Congress, some 1,500 outstanding Club members from every state in the Union and many U. S. possessions met to hear some of the most inspirational speakers in the country and participated in a program said to have been the best held in the Windy City.

Miss Bach received this award by being the state farm and home safety winner.

In addition to these awards, several medals were distributed to county winners, and every boy and girl who completed his project received some recognition at the fair in the way of ribbons, 4-H Club pins, cash awards and certificates of achievement.

'Vicious' Citizen Rapped By Judge

CLEVELAND (P)—Common Pleas Judge James C. Conell has acquitted Mayor Robert E. Willeford of Bedford Heights of assaulting motorist Saul Goldstone with a tear gas shell, and gave Goldstone a sharp lecture.

The judge called Goldstone a "vicious, mean and malicious" person who had caused a lot of trouble by defying the law.

The incident of the tear gas shell occurred last March 15 when the mayor, riding in a police car, ac-

Savings Hiked

COLUMBUS (P)—Growth of savings account balances in Ohio savings and loans the first 10 months of this year showed a 14½ per cent increase over growth in the corresponding 1952 period, the Ohio Savings and Loan League said today.

Goldstone later was acquitted of violating the traffic laws, and filed a charge of maiming against the mayor. He claimed his eyesight was permanently damaged when the mayor fired the shell at him.

Neighbors Aid Ailing Farmer

Neighbors have pitched in to give a helping hand to George Eitel of Williamsport Route 1, who has been ill for more than a month.

The neighbors invaded Eitel's fields this fall, harvested 35 acres of corn and cribbed it. The job was done in four hours, 40 minutes, with five pickers, 12 tractors, 17 wagons and three elevators.

Aiding the local farmer were Bryan Downs, Joe Downs, John Eitel, James Fausnaugh, Glenn Fausnaugh, Donald Trump, Homer Oldaker, Noah List, Bob List, Ray Hardin, Paul Eitel, Clinton Young, Charles Trump, George Massie, Thomas Carter, Harold Bumgarner and Eugene Siniff.

2 Youths Held In Amish Holdups

DOVER (P)—Holmes County police say two youths have been victimizing Amish men driving old-fashioned horse buggies in the Mount Hope-Minesburg district.

A series of four robberies reported, two of them Thursday night, netted the youths about $25, according to Holmes County Sheriff Clarence Dieringer.

In each case, the sheriff said, an automobile swerved across the path of an Amish buggy and a black-haired youth, about 22 and wearing a red bandana across his face, jumped out and held up the Amish with a shotgun or rifle.

Short Marriage

CINCINNATI (P)—"At least he could have sent a post card," said Marie Cowles, 16, in her complaint to police yesterday. She said on Nov. 1 she married William Cowles, 27, a long distance trucker from Texas, and he left her Nov. 2.

Small boys and girls should not be served highly-spiced dishes, but their food should be flavored appealingly. A little onion, parsley, celery, tomatoes or lemon juice often will make a meat or fish dish taste "just right."
